

HIS 6934 Early Modern Atlantic

Dr. Laurie Wood

This graduate historiography seminar offers an introduction to the main themes and methods in early modern Atlantic historiography (such as migration, family, and race) through readings in classic works and recent scholarship. Students will have an opportunity to dig deeper into Atlantic scholarship by writing a research prospectus. This project enables students to connect course readings with a wider research project (such as a thesis or dissertation) and to think about to organize the next steps. This exercise also introduces skills for writing research proposals for grants & other scholarly genres.
