

HIS 6934 Modern Russia since 1800

Dr. Jonathan Grant

The main goals of this course are specifically to prepare graduate students to teach their own survey course in 19th and 20th century Russian History, and to familiarize students with the major works in the Russian field. Successful completion of this course will expose students to the main lines of Russian political/diplomatic, socio-economic, and intellectual history.